Spirals of Inquiry

On Thursday 15th March we attended the Leading Literacy Development using Spirals of Inquiry professional development at Learning Network presented by Mary-Anne Murphy.

This was a very informative, hands-on and practical session where we analysed reading data from our syndicates to identify patterns and trends. We then worked through a process to identify a focus question to inquire about as a team. We will be introducing this to the staff next term and taking a series of meetings to empower them to effectively use the spirals of Inquiry model to better cater for our learners needs.

We came away feeling invigorated, excited and enthusiastic. We are now eager to facilitate this change process with the teachers and to report back on progress in term 2.
